McKinley has taken the pains to deny that he is looking about for an Olney for his Cabinet.

In France there is a law compelling physicians to write their prescriptions in the language of the country.

President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle have declined invitations to address the Chicago Gold Democratic Club on Jackson's day.

One of the best boom towns in Florida is called Trilby, and an exchange says that real estate there is reckoned at so much per bare foot.

The New Orleans Board of Trade will send a delegation to Washington to represent the rice interests of Louisiana when the tariff question is taken up.

There is a town in Nebraska without a lawyer, says the Washington Times. The statement saves itself from impossibility by adding that there are no inhabitants.

It is said that a Russian fleet of twelve vessels, stationed at Vladivostok, is keeping an eye on Japan, which is thought to be meditating another blow at China.

A Missourian has sold his wife for $15. This may or may not mean that the times are getting better. It depends upon the point in view, thinks the St. Louis Globe.

The florist who got a judgment for $218 against John L. Sullivan recalls the fact that the ex-champion has a single blossom which probably cost him $200,000. It's on John's nose.

In order to give the young men every opportunity, the girls in Chicago this season are wearing sprigs of mistletoe on their hats, and the boys are making the best of their opportunity.

Cops didn't have much Christmas merriment, but we all thought of her and wished her a fairer holiday twelve months hence. Her day is surely coming, thinks the Philadelphia Times.

Louis F. Payn charges that the Union League, which is trying to elect Joseph H. Choate to the United States Senate from New York State, used $50,000 to elect William M. Everts, in 1885.

Sponges, says Professor Lang, of Vienna, owing to the impossibility of destroying germs in them, have long since been banished from the surgeon's table, and should also be excluded from the bathtub and washstand.

The Louisville Courier Journal thinks that the temptation to take possession of the "Ever Faithful Isle," if she were free from Spain, would be great, but the advisability of such action would always be open to serious doubt.

The Dunkards are said to have purchased 41,000 acres of land in Brown county, Ind., and are trying to purchase more. They want to establish a big colony and work out their scheme of government according to their own peculiar notion, says the Courier Journal.

We learn that there is a canal three miles in length from Beaufort to deep water in Neuse river known as the Club Foot and Harlowe Creek canal. It is thought that the company would willingly turn it over to the United States Government in carrying out any plan it might have in perfecting an inland water way system, thus avoiding Cape Lookout and Cape Hatteras—the latter a very dangerous and destructive point on the North Carolina coast, says the Wilmington, N. C., Messenger.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION IN 1896.

The Railway Age notes that 1896 has been a year of disappointed expectations in the way of new railway enterprises, and says that the total number of lines built in thirty-eight States and Territories during the year, from January 1st to December 31st, were only 163, with a mileage of 1,892.29.

It is gratifying to know, however, that more than one-half of all the lines built during the year were in the Southern country.

According to the Railway Age it is a curious coincidence that the mileage of new tracks laid in 1896 is almost precisely the same as that laid in 1895, the returns for that year showing 1,903 miles.

For ten years, our contemporary says, the railway builder has traveled a steadily descending road of activity, from 13,000 down to 1,800 miles, and at last he may feel sure that the bottom has been reached. The bottom will not drop out. There is room and there will be need for great increase of railway lines—by whatever means they may be operated—and with the return of normal financial conditions, the annual record of construction will begin to show an upward tendency.

The great area of the South continues to receive the benefit of a large mileage of new roads than any other section, and the field is still an inviting one for railway enterprise and will continue so for very many years to come.

WHAT HAS GERMANY TO DO WITH IT?

The London Times' correspondent, writing from Paris, informs his paper that the Washington Government has been given to understand, in a friendly way, that the Powers will not remain passive should the United States recognize Cuban independence, and that according to his information, "Germany is even now ready to take sides with Spain should the United States side with the rebels." This is news, if true, and supposing that it is true, the question arises what has Germany to do with the matter anyhow? Besides, whence did Germany learn that the Powers would side with Spain in the event of this country recognizing the independence of the Cubans? There is no doubt but that Germany, as well as the whole of Europe, is jealous of the Great Republic, but it is not believed that the Powers care to become embodied in war because of any action the United States may take regarding the troubles between Spain and Cuba. In fact, upon receipt in Washington of the news furnished by the Paris correspondent of the London Times, the German Ambassador there hastened to deny any such position being assumed by Germany as is charged.

It is a fact, however, that Spain has been sounding the Great Powers of Europe as to their course in event of a struggle between itself and the United States, and it is possible that the Paris correspondent of the Times concludes that consent to help Spain has been given, but such is not the fact.

LATE AT THE PLAY.

The Augusta Chronicle notes with some degree of satisfaction the great improvement not only in the comfort of the audience at the theatres in that city, but in the looks of the ladies themselves, who now take off their hats at all places of public amusement there.

But there is another bad habit among Augusta theatre-goers, remarks our contemporary, and one that should be reformed. It is the practice of coming after the play has begun, and interfering with the first ten minutes of the act. This is exceedingly bad form. There ought to be a uniform hour for raising the curtain, and the audience should be seated when that hour arrives.

The latter practice is perhaps scarcely less annoying than the bad habit at the theatres, and Norfolk suffers as much from it as any city in the Union. With all due respect to those who come late to the play, the practice should be stopped. People who go to the theatre, go there to see and hear, and if they are disturbed in the beginning of the performance by late comers, it is an annoyance, and much of the interest in the performance is lost.

There is still another practice which often mars the pleasure of very many who desire to witness the final of a play, and that is the hurrying pell mell of people in the galleries to get out before the curtain goes down on the last act. This latter practice has grown to such an extent that to a very large degree those who wish to catch the closing sentences of a performance are unable to do so because of the noise and confusion made by those who act as though it is a matter of life and death to reach the street.

Let the management of the house settle upon an hour for commencement of the performance and when the time arrives ring up the curtain, then the people should come at that hour, and when the performance is closing everybody should keep their seats until the curtain is rung down. Try this and note the improvement.

THE SOUTHERN HARBOR MEETING.

Some weeks since Governor Mitchell, of Florida, issued a call for a national convention to meet in Tampa on the 20th of January, to consider the question of increasing the defences of the Southern harbors, invitations being sent to Governors of all the States requesting them to appoint delegates to the convention, and it is learned that many of the Governors have responded as requested.

The Philadelphia Times has taken up the matter, and in its issue of Sunday last has this to say about it:

"This is not in any sense a sectional movement. The Southern harbors are admittedly in a defenseless condition. When it is remembered that they embrace the mouth of the Father of Waters, that is employed for the commerce of nearly one-half of the States of the Union, the importance of such an assembly may be readily appreciated. Everything now points to a very large convention at Tampa on the 20th of January, and embracing many of the ablest men of the Union."

In addition to the invitations sent out by Governor Mitchell the Board of Trade of Tampa has issued an urgent invitation to the board of trades in the different cities to send special representatives to the Southern harbor convention, and the outlook is that the attendance will be large. The Times says we regard this convention as important not only to call the attention of the Government and people to the defenseless condition of our immense Southern coast, but as equally important to bring representative men of North and West, into closer and more fraternal relations. Sectionalism now means more than the North and South; it means East and West as well, and the more the representative business men can be brought into personal intercourse striving for the common good the more rapidly will sectionalism of every phase be eradicated from our free institutions."

This is in the right spirit and the Virginian hopes and believes that the meeting in Tampa will be fruitful of much good.

NOTES AND OPINIONS.

During the past week five men have been lynched and six toll gates demolished in Kentucky.

A combination rascal and ease in which the strop slides into one side of the case has just been patented.

An electric roller for massage purposes is composed of plates of copper and zinc and generates its own electricity.

A recently patented solder for aluminium consists of thirty parts of tin alloy, four parts aluminium, and three parts zinc.

A newly designed double-barrelled gun has only one trigger, a lever being used to change the action to either side as desired.

William Dorozel, a Hungarian, declares that the tobacco plant is a perennial, not an annual, and therefore there is no need of sowing it anew each year.

England gives employment to 32,000 people in her bicycle factories. The number of wheels made this year amounted to 250,000, and the capital invested in this industry is $17,000,000.

Two men are in love with the same girl. Good! Now it seems strange that they should quarrel with each other for being of the same mind. It is usually difference of opinion that invites conflict.

The Eagle will take a week off, beginning with to-night and ending at the expiration of a week. During the year we have been so busy that we could not keep up with our income, and our hoarded capital has become uncomfortable. During the week beginning with this date we will endeavor to turn it loose.—Gainesville Eagle.

PERSONALS.

Byron wrote his celebrated poem of the "Bride of Abydos" in one night, and without mending his pen. The pen is still preserved in the British Museum.

Cecil Rhodes is on his way back to England from South America, having sailed from Belra on board a steamer which he had chartered especially for his own use.

Mrs. Smith, a 100-year-old lady of Grantham, England, does all her own housework, nurses an invalid nephew, and sells potatoes, which she planted and dug up herself.

A special gold medal is to be presented to Dr. Nansen by the Royal Geographical Society in London in commemoration of his brilliant journey in the Arctic regions.

In his two days' shooting at Buckenham recently, the German Emperor bagged to his own rifle no fewer than 29 stags out of a total slaughter list of 130 head of big game.

The Duke and Duchess of Fife are at present among the richest of the younger members of the queen's family, for the duke is credited with a private income of $100,000 a year.

The Marquis de Montebello, the last male representative of the defender of Quebec, died recently in France. He transmitted his name and title by legal process to an adopted son.

Mr. Haig, who was married to Mrs. Coleman Drayton last week, is said to be a member of one of the most ancient Scottish families, the Haigs, of Bernersyde, whose traditional history begins with the last king of the Picts, A. D. 800, and who claim their pedigree from Petrus Dehaga, of Bernersyde, in 1150.

A Timely Friend.

With perfect propriety may we call that excellent remedy, Salvation Oil, a timely friend. This liniment rapidly cures rheumatism, neuralgia and pains, when other remedies fail. Mr. Jno. M. Hall, Ashland, Va., writes: "I suffered with rheumatism in the ankle and the muscles connected therewith. Salvation Oil at once relieved the soreness, reduced the swelling, and cured the pain. No other liniment that I ever used did me so much good."
